'VERY GOOD CROWD' for opening day at the U.P. State Fair, said officials, and the people in line for grandstand tickets proves it. There were 4,333 paid admissions to the grounds on Tuesday in the first day of the first year of paid gate. Un-American Hearing Start Is Tumultuous

Committee To Quiz Viet War Critics Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — More members of antiwar groups that brand the United States as an aggressor in Viet Nam face questioning today by the House Committee on Un-American Activities after a tumultuous opening day punctuated by repeated crowd outbursts and 17 arrests.

Minutes before the committee plunged into its hearings on bills aimed at Americans who help the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, a three-judge federal court lifted an order by U.S. Dist. Judge Howard F. Corcoran forbidding the session. But it directed a further hearing today on a constitutional challenge to the committee's authority.

Scores of police and federal marshals patrolled the sprawling caucus room in the old House Office Building, and surrounding marble corridors. Although congressional staff aides got most of the 300 seats, bursts of laughter and applause echoed from the audience throughout the day.

Noisy Crowd

Nine persons were dragged or carried out by police after leaping to their feet and shouting challenges to the committee. Another eight were arrested as several hundred supporters of the antiwar witnesses milled and jostled in corridors hoping to get seats.

The committee devoted its morning session and part of the afternoon to laying the groundwork for an allegation that such antiwar groups as the May 2nd Movement are controlled by Communist organizations such as the Progressive Labor Movement and the Progressive Labor party.

Small Minority

Phillip A. Luce, an author and former member of the Progressive Labor Movement, testified that the antiwar groups represented only a small minority of American youth. Since leaving the Progressive Labor Movement, he said he has been "trying to tell other young people about the pitfalls of communism."

The Progressive Labor Movement, he said, is a pro-Peking group expelled from the U.S. Communist party for "leftist deviation."

It was something of a switch for Luce who three years ago was ejected from a committee hearing dealing with a trip to Cuba by a group called Students for Travel to Cuba. His testimony Tuesday prompted Jeffery Gordon, a Progressive Labor party leader from New York, to leap to his feet and shout:

"Let's stop this fink testimony! U.S. get out of Viet Nam."

Gordon was hustled out of the chamber and taken to a police station.

All 17 who were arrested were charged with disorderly conduct.

Along with many of the others, Gordon was back for the afternoon session at which he was called to testify. His testimony brought frequent bursts of laughter from the audience and some of the committee members. He insulted the committee, quoted the Bill of Rights, denounced the war in Viet Nam and extolled the May 2nd Movement.

Da Nang Crash Of Jets Brings Death For 26

SAIGON (AP)—A U.S. Marine jet fighter-bomber heavily laden with bombs and fuel crashed into a Vietnamese village shortly after takeoff from Da Nang airport today. At least 26 villagers were killed.

The pilot, identified as 1st. Lt. Walter J. Doherty, 22, Gold Hill, Ore., miraculously escaped serious injury. His parachute failed to open after he ejected, but his fall was broken by a tree.

A spokesman at the scene said the plane, an F8E Crusader, was carrying two 1,000-pound bombs. One of the bombs exploded as did 20mm cannon ammunition.

The crashing plane leveled a number of small Vietnamese homes. Others were set afire.

On the battleground, a U.S. Marine amphibious assault force of more than 1,000 men, which landed Tuesday on the shore of the South China Sea 100 miles east of Saigon, moved inland into dense jungle and swamplands believed to be hiding a Viet Cong division.

The landing was unopposed. By noon today, advance elements of the Marine force had reached coastal Highway No. 1 without meeting the enemy.

The Leathernecks came ashore in amphibious tracked vehicles and helicopters from seven U.S. Navy ships, including the assault carrier Iwo Jima, from which the helicopters were launched. The landing was preceded by a saturation bombardment of the shore by cruisers, destroyers and rocket ships.

The Marines, who called their operation Deckhouse 3, were landed as a blocking force for Operation Toledo, a combined U.S.-Vietnamese search and destroy sweep that began Aug. 10 against the Viet Cong 5th Division.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, ground action was light, a result in part of heavy monsoon rains.

4-H Clubs Top Fair's Biggest Attractions

The U. P. State Fair will salute its "largest attraction" on Thursday, the thousands of 4-H Club boys and girls and their exhibits.

The work of the young people, representing many hours of work and study (sometimes months of sustained project effort) is the biggest department among the 18 of the Fair.

Thursday is 4-H Club Day when the attention of Fair-goers is directed to the accomplishments of the U. P. members of this international organization.

There are special events on tap for the free show in front of the big grandstand Thursday afternoon.

The best in amateur teenage talent from among the 4-H'ers, selected on the basis of prior competition, will present a talent show; and expert young dressmakers will model their 4-H sewing project creations in the dress revue.

Indicating the diversity of interests and the achievements of the young people will be the appearance of 4-H Club boys and girls in the Saddle Horse Show. Their skill will be demonstrated in an exhibition that will prove there's still a place on the farm for the horse—for the riding horse has made a comeback although the tractor has replaced Old Dobbin's horsepower in the fields.

There are about 300 4-H Clubs represented at the Fair this year—and the competition is becoming keener each year as the number of members and the volume of exhibits increase. Indicating the scope of the club's activities is a partial listing of its projects: Gardening, cooking, conservation, handicraft, safety, dairy, beef, home making, family living, clothing, knitting, entomology, photography.

The Fair's salute to 4-H brings a popular response from the public, both in the cities and in the country, for 4-H has many members in town as well as on the farm. Thursday evening at 6:30 the 4-H banquet will be held in the dining hall on the grounds.

The Fair Tonight

Tonight's free grandstand show at the U. P. State Fair will feature the climax of the Fair Queen contest — the crowning of the Queen. The event is scheduled for 8:15.

The winner will be crowned by Miss Judy Tanguay, Menominee, the 1965 queen. Several queens of past years will be in attendance also.

Bill Hart will be master of ceremonies and the show will include Wonderland Variety Show acts.

President Asks Curb In Credit As Rates Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reacting to a wave of increases in prime lending rates, the Johnson administration has urged banks to curb credit expansion by saying "no" to more prospective borrowers.

This could apply to the little fellow who wants a loan for a car, a house or other purposes as well as a big business firm seeking a major loan.

In rapid-fire order Tuesday, commercial banks in several cities increased their prime lending rates for the fourth time in a year, this time to 6 per cent.

Other banks across the country were expected to follow suit today. There was no solid indication President Johnson would try to roll back the boost or talk the bankers out of it.

The prime lending rate — that charged the largest and most creditworthy customers like big corporations — forms the basis for the commercial interest rate structure.

Thus, when a bank's best customer is charged 6 per cent, other borrowers may be charged 6.5 per cent, 7 per cent or more. Experts said pressure will be placed on installment and other small loans, but supplies of money for personal or consumer loans will tend to be available, although at higher rates.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler issued the plea for restraint after the First National City Bank of New York initiated the increase by raising one-fourth of 1 per cent its lowest interest rate for business loans of 90 days or more.

A bank spokesman said the move was designed "to moderate the continuing extraordinary loan demand."

State Agents Seize Untaxed Cigarettes

LANSING (AP)—Investigators cracked Michigan's biggest cigarette bootlegging operation in several years, Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock said Tuesday.

Three Western Michigan men were charged with illegal transportation and sale of cigarettes by Ottawa County Prosecutor James Buzzard. They were arraigned Tuesday, demanded an examination, and were released on bond.

They were identified as Henry Telman of Jenison, and Charles Green and Morris Gibson, both of Grand Rapids.

Lock said the Revenue Department seized more than 5,500 cartons of untaxed cigarettes and the truck in which they had been hauled from North Carolina.

He said the operation had gone on since spring. Tax liability on the one truckload alone was placed at $3,850, or 70 cents per carton.

Lock said a cigarette wholesaler who was losing business tipped off authorities, who began an investigation five weeks ago.

They followed the truck to North Carolina and observed the cigarette pickup from a legal source. North Carolina is the only state which levies no cigarette tax.

By not paying the Michigan tax, said Lock, bootleggers could undersell legitimate wholesalers by four to five cents per carton.

Cigarette bootlegging has increased in recent months in the east, especially New York City, where the tax per carton is $1.40.

The three men were arraigned before Grand Haven Township Justice Lawrence DeWitt, who placed bail at $100 each and set Aug. 23 for their examination.

Fulbright Panel Starting Probe Of Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright leads his Senate Foreign Relations Committee today into a probe of how the United States is waging another side of the Viet Nam war — the propaganda battle.

He called Leonard H. Marks, chief of the U.S. Information Agency, to explain some of his agency's efforts to swing foreign opinion on the war, such as paying the fare for some 27 overseas journalists to visit Viet Nam.

Fulbright said he saw no reason to keep such an operation secret and added that the committee members also might want to question Marks about other USIA activities in influencing foreign opinion.

As the hearings open, the highest administration praise Fulbright has heard in months was still ringing in his ears.

Fulbright, who has been at odds with the Johnson administration for months over Viet Nam policy, drew lavish praise Tuesday from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Humphrey lauded the Arkansas Democrat for "a great act of diplomacy." Humphrey referred to a statement Fulbright had made in an interview with The Associated Press in which he said Hanoi and Peking would be mistaken if they refused to negotiate an end to the war in the belief President Johnson stood alone in his policy.

As evidence that the President was not isolated in his policy, Fulbright contended that Congress was actually more warlike than Johnson.

Union Asks 50 Cents Skilled Wage Boost

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers have demanded that automakers answer by next Monday the union's request for reopening of current contracts to write in increases of at least 50 cents hourly for skilled tradesmen.

Industry sources confirmed the 50-cent figure today. UAW spokesmen would say only that the union is asking "a substantial increase." Skilled tradesmen themselves have talked about 25 per cent or roughly $1 an hour.

If an increase is granted now, Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president, said the union has indicated it "would be just a down payment on demands to be made for skilled workers in (new) contract talks next year."

The three-year contracts, negotiated in 1964, do not expire for more than a year, and Chairman Henry Ford II of Ford Motor Co. is on record as saying reopening at this time would be "inadvisable."

The demand comes, however, just as the automakers are beginning to roll out 1967 models.

The union said its only weapon now is "the power of persuasion." But a strong demand always raises the specter of work stoppages, and all the manufacturers like to begin a new model year with a rush.

Skilled tradesmen within the UAW contend they are underpaid when compared with others, particularly within the building trades.

They point to a Detroit straight-time scale of $4.63 hourly for carpenters and $5.20 for electricians. In the Big Three auto plants they claim tool and die makers average $3.87, and in job shops of the Detroit Tooling Association, $4.25. Other skilled trades are millwrights and machinists.

Only Ford has replied publicly to contract reopening, a subject which UAW President Walter P. Reuther broached some weeks back.

Pioneer Heads For Sun Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The United States today launched the Pioneer 7 spacecraft toward an orbit around the sun, aiming to reap the "solar wind" — clouds of radiation that blow through space as a potential threat to astronauts.

A three-stage Delta rocket, spurting a serpentine tail of white smoke, blasted away from Cape Kennedy at 11:20 a.m. to start the 140-pound scientific package on a marathon journey.

The flight control center reported early phases of the mission appeared excellent as the rocket winged out over the Atlantic Ocean. The space agency hoped to know within an hour whether Pioneer 7 achieved a solar orbit.

As Pioneer 7 cruises around the sun on a path between the earth and Mars, it was to gather information on the solar wind, radiation, magnetic fields and other properties of interplanetary space.

It could help forecast when dangerous radiation-producing flares might erupt on the sun, permitting manned lunar and planetary flights to be rescheduled.

Inflation Perils Nation: Griffin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said today inflation is a threat to the country and the Johnson Administration has delayed, apparently for political reasons, to come to grips with it.

The cost of living, he said at a news conference, has been rising at a rate of about 4 per cent a year and workers would have to have a 7.2 per cent increase in wages just to break even.

Asked if he would favor such a wage increase, Griffin, who is seeking election this fall, replied: "I would not blame them if they did. It would not be shocking or unwarranted . . ."

In explaining the 7.2 per cent increase which he said the workers would need, Griffin said this is a 4 per cent increase in the cost of living plus the 3.2 per cent Administration guideline figure estimated to match productivity.

"It is a serious situation for the country," he said. "Any increase in wages beyond productivity pushes costs up and we get into a cost-price inflation where costs push prices up."

Griffin said he blames the Johnson Administration for refusing to tighten its belt and cut nondefense spending.

Asked about industry profits, Griffin said that up to now the profit picture has been good, but he said the profit picture for General Motors is not necessarily the same as that for small business.

Soviet Car Plant To Have Fiat Aid

Informed sources said the auto factory, to be built on the Volga River, was expected to turn out its first car in 1969. The plant is intended eventually to produce 600,000 passenger cars a year.

Few To Mourn $2 Bill Passing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judging from the response thus far, the $2 bill apparently will have few mourners at its funeral.

Treasury Department officials said today they had received little adverse reaction to the announcement a week ago that no more twos would be printed because of a lack of public demand.

There has been a heavier than normal demand for the bill at some banks since the announcement, but government officials expected this and aren't concerned. They view it as an effort by some Americans to obtain souvenirs of what will become part of the past.

In fact, most of the roughly score of letters which the treasurer's office has received thus far want to know where twos can be obtained or enclose a check with an order for up to $50 worth. The orders are being returned with notes telling the senders to get their twos at a bank.

The bill was first printed during the Revolutionary War. It has been made continuously since 1862.

Only $139.3 million in twos are outstanding, about a third of one per cent of the total paper currency.

Present plans call for continued use of the twos as long as they last—the average life of a two is 87 months.

Sen. McClellan Renews Clash Over Warplane

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee plans to reopen the whole bitter question of whether the United States is buying a second-best warplane — the TFX — to save $1 billion.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, said so Tuesday in the Senate without specifying just exactly when.

Presumably, however, the hearing will be held prior to the time the Navy has to decide whether its version of the TFX, called the F111B, is useful. The Navy will reach a conclusion next March or April.

In a brief, off-the-floor interview, McClellan said he would propose an amendment, probably today, to the $59-billion defense appropriations bill forbidding the Pentagon to procure F111Bs through the expenditure of appropriated but unused funds.

The present appropriation bill does not include money for the purchase of the F111B beyond the five included in a research and development contract with General Dynamics of Fort Worth, Tex.

In an exchange with Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, McClellan elicited this statement from Russell: "The Navy states it cannot utilize the plane in its present configuration."

Governors Meet In Mid-December

Strike Settled At Weyerhauser

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A new contract with the Plainwell Division of Weyerhauser Corp. was ratified by a 92 per cent majority Tuesday by 285 members of Local 1062, United Papermakers and Paperworkers.

The union struck the plant two weeks ago over terms of a new contract. Details of the new settlement were not immediately known.

Area Board Adopts $2 Million Budget

By DAVE ANDREWS

The Escanaba Area Board of Education adopted the first $2 million budget in the history of public schooling in the Upper Peninsula Tuesday night.

Total expenditures for the 1966-67 school year, including some $41,000 from the school hot lunch program, are expected to be about $2,021,225.

Formal adopted budget calls for spending of $1,980,225, but does not include revenue or expenses from the self-supporting lunch program which is treated as a separate account.

Vote of the Board of Education was unanimous, although Wheaton Strom and Roland Collins were absent from the meeting.

Of the record high budget, about 83 per cent will go for salaries of teachers, administrators and non-professional employes.

Teachers and administrators will take home a whopping $1,430,171 during the school year — an increase of over $200,000 from 1965-66. Non-professional employes will get the remainder of an expected $1,670,975 in salaries to be paid.

Salaries Negotiated

Salaries for teachers in the Escanaba Area system were recently settled as part of a master contract negotiated with the Escanaba Education Association, bargaining group for teachers. Wage settlements for non-professional employes were negotiated earlier this year.

Net increase in budget from last year is $287,480. Since 1964-65, school spending has jumped $451,000.

Supt. Luther M. Barrett commented last week, however, that "We are commencing this school year in the best financial condition in a number of years. The successful renewal of extra voted millage last February, plus a steady allocation rate, couple with another major improvement in the State Aid formula enable us to meet most of our immediate demands on our income."

There are no plans by the Board of Education to request additional millage to meet operational expenses.

The budget provides for several additions to staff and also includes $46,553 for capital improvements to school buildings, grounds and instructional materials.

Major capital outlay items include $24,500 for National Defense Education Act participation in social studies and physics programs, $4,819 for classroom furniture for the new elementary schools, and $4,676 for blacktopping the parking and playground area at Ford River school.

Accept Bid

The Board accepted the low bid of Northern Asphalt Co. of Escanaba for blacktopping at Ford River in that amount Tuesday.

In other action on a shortened agenda, the Board accepted the bid of Farm Mutual Insurance Co. of $1,625.71 for fleet insurance, including driver training cars, for 1966-67. A total of 34 vehicles will be covered.

Three teachers were also hired for the 1966-67 school year by the Board of Education: Melvin Kyto, to teach in the special education room at the Junior high; Mrs. Sybil Houghton, junior high math, and Mrs. Ruth Sedenquist, Jefferson third grade. Seven vacancies still remain, but Barrett indicated he has persons in mind for all of them.

Conversion

Escanaba Area High School will be heated this winter with natural gas instead of oil.

The Board of Education approved the change Tuesday night and voted to advertise for bids to make the conversion at the high school.

According to figures supplied by Frank Bourke and Harold Middleton, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., the Board will save about $1,650 per year in heating costs at the high school by using natural gas. Bourke explained the figure was computed by taking the quantity of oil burned at the high school last year, converting it to heating units, then figuring how much natural gas it would take to provide the same number of units.

Work on the changeover is expected to be completed by the end of September.

Lake Trout Plant Is 'Encouraging'

Fish released in last year's first major plantings of lake trout in northern Lake Michigan are doing encouragingly well, according to early results of a study conducted by the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Highlights of the survey, launched last September and financed through the federal Commercial Fisheries Research and Development Act, indicate good survival and growth among the planted lakers.

In June, 1965, when about 1.2 million of the fin-clipped fish were released, most of them measured five-six inches. Catch samples from Lake Michigan reveal that the fish now average 10-11 inches. Some run up to 13-15 inches.

"If growth gains like this continue to show up among these fish and millions of others to be planted in the next few years, it shouldn't be too long before they recapture the interest of sport fishermen," notes Walter R. Crowe, in charge of Great Lakes fisheries for the Department.

Also raising hopes that lake trout will be successfully reestablished in Lake Michigan are indications that the young fish are in excellent physical condition.

Crowe is quick to point out that the Department's assessment study, carried out in close cooperation with commercial fishermen and other state agencies, is still in the exploratory stage. For example, index stations have not yet been selected to measure the abundance of these fish and pinpoint their concentration areas.

Also, most of the fish are still too small to be vulnerable to sea lamprey attacks, which clouds the possible impact of this predation factor.

However, it is hoped that the eel-like killers will have been brought sufficiently under control by the time these planted trout grow large enough to become potential lamprey targets.

"With just one year of study under our belt, we have much more to learn about the status of lake trout in Lake Michigan," explains Crowe. "However," he adds, "results so far are encouraging and we are hopeful that lake trout will make a strong recovery in these waters, much as they have in Lake Superior where the rehabilitation program is further along."

Crowe reports that in months to come the Department will step up and refine its study in Lake Michigan to check lake trout numbers, movements, mortality losses, and feeding habits.

Efforts will also be stepped up to measure sea lamprey activity and pesticide levels in lake trout. Besides this, an economic evaluation will be made of the massive, all-out program to restore lake trout in Lake Michigan.

School Plans Are Approved

Bids on additions to three Escanaba Area elementary schools will be opened by the Board of Education Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Date was set Tuesday night after working drawings prepared by G. Arntzen & Co., architects, were approved by the Board of Education. School projects to be bid are the multi-purpose room addition at Wells school, the two classroom and multi-purpose room addition at Soo Hill school, and the six classroom addition to the John Lemmer school.

The three projects will be bid as one, the Board said.

Additions to the buildings were provided for in the approval last February of a $1.45 million bond issue. Bids on the new Southside and Franklin schools have already been let. Still to be completed are working drawings for the new Washington School and the boiler plant at the Junior High School.

The addition to the John Lemmer school will be located to the north side of the existing building adjoining the multi-purpose room. The multi-purpose room at Wells will join to the most recent classroom addition and run parallel to Highland Ave. The Soo Hill addition is plotted to the east and rear of the current building.

Mexican Youth Asks Good Will, Understanding

By CLINT DUNATHAN

People who do not understand each other or who are misinformed create "dangerous ignorance" threatening the peace of the world, Alfredo Serrano of Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, said in a talk to the Rotary Club of Escanaba Tuesday noon.

Serrano, a teacher and student at the University of Sonora, is Rotary's guest for the summer here.

His report to the club was marked also by the presentation to the Rotary Club of a flag and citation from The Experiment in International Living for the club's sponsorship of a student from another country for 11 consecutive years. The Escanaba club is one of 14 Rotary groups in the U. S. to achieve the honor.

Isadore Stein, president, conducted the meeting at which wives of Rotarians were in attendance also. Serrano was introduced by Robert Mosenfelder, chairman of Rotary's international service committee.

Not Representative

Our failure to understand the people of other countries can have the most serious consequences in international relationships, Serrano said.

"Even worse than ignorance are the false generalizations," he continued. These are dangerous, particularly if they become accepted by the people of larger countries, whose influence is great in world affairs.

Serrano described the usual sources of information about the United States and their shortcomings in giving a true impression of the country to others. Newspapers are concerned with the newsworthy and by the time this is sifted out and printed in the press of other lands it often tends largely to accounts of sensational riots and killings.

"This information is certainly not representative of events in your country."

Motion pictures convey the idea that the U. S. is engrossed with sex; while the U. S. tourist creates the least erroneous impression when he travels to other lands—although he is on vacation and may "tend to do things he would not ordinarily do in his own country."

Seek Freedom

"So we know only half-truths or we are ignorant of other countries and their peoples," Serrano said.

Seeking to better inform his audience of Mexico and other Spanish American countries, Serrano traced the historic events that brought the Spanish colonies in America from under the control of Spain.

But the backward and feudal system in Mexico and other Spanish American countries was the cause of continuing revolution, he reported. The upper classes who had revolted against a growing liberalism in Spanish rule now found themselves the target for continuing unrest and revolution among the people.

Mexican people gained their independence only at great cost: The lives of one million of the country's 60 million were lost.

'More Cubas'?

"Throughout Spanish America the population grows. The people have modern desires. Outside of Mexico the feudal system stops progress and so there is much unrest and revolution," Serrano said. There could be "more Cubas" within the next few years, he added.

The relationship of the United States and Mexico was described by Serrano in amusement, quoting a past president of Mexico who said: "Poor Mexico—so far from God and so close to the United States!"

The need is for sincere efforts toward understanding, to dispel ignorance; and Rotary, the Peace Corps, and other organized programs should be encouraged, Serrano believes.

In response to questions, Serrano said that Mexico's middle class is growing in wealth and number; that Communism has been unable to muster sufficient strength to obtain a place on the ballot as a political party; and that Mexico's principal and powerful party combines within it the several elements of socialists, liberals, and conservatives.

"There is democracy within the one party," he said, noting that the party's president has at one time been liberal, at another time conservative.

Under Mexico's constitution the president may serve but one six-year term and he may never be reelected. There is strong centralization of government, however, and the president's power is great.

New Anesthetic Seen Useful In Office Surgery

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A new anesthetic that puts patients to sleep with their eyes open may make minor surgery a pleasant pasttime.

Doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center report the new anesthetic, called CI-581, is of short duration, has very few side effects, creates the desired pain relief and usually is well-liked by patients.

Dr. Robert B. Sweet, chairman of the medical school's Department of Anesthesia, said the drug has been used experimentally in more than 600 surgical and diagnostic cases at the Medical Center.

He said the drug is characterized by rapid involuntary movement of the eyeball, putting the patient in an apparent "state of unresponsiveness" or "suspended animation."

Recovery from the anesthetic is "smooth and uncomplicated," he said, adding: "Nausea and vomiting are virtually absent."

The only detrimental side effects, researchers report, are brief hallucinations which 17 patients suffered while the drug was wearing off, a 15 to 30-minute process.

Dr. Gunter Cossen, professor of anesthesiology, said the apparent safety and ease of administering the new drug promises that it will be good for simple office surgery. However, he cautioned that widespread use of the new drug should await more clinical testing.

Flint Black-Out Laid To Squirrel

FLINT (AP)—Some 7,500 Flint homes and businesses that went without power for 21 minutes Monday can blame a squirrel. Joseph L. Gillie, division manager of Consumers Power Co., said a squirrel climbed into a substation and short-circuited equipment. Hurley and Flint Osteopathic hospitals went on emergency power during the electric failure.

Television Named Steer, Kiwanis Heifer Champs

A steer named after a television performer and a heifer bought by the Escanaba Kiwanis Club for a young 4-H clubber from Hyde stole the show Tuesday in the Junior Livestock Show at the U. P. State Fairgrounds.

Susan Bowers' 1,000 pound steer "Lurch", named after the stiff-legged butler on "The Adams Family" television program, was named grand champion by Judge David Ames of Michigan State University in the beef market steer division.

The Kiwanis Club heifer, given to 11-year-old Paul Dittrich of Hyde, swept junior and grand champion honors in the beef breeding division.

Junior Livestock show will conclude its program tonight at 8 o'clock with the steer auction in the beef ring.

Second Straight

Victory in the market steer division was the second straight for the 15-year-old Miss Bowers of Stephenson. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Bowers, who operate the 260-acre Hon-E-Nol dairy farm.

Susan, who will be a sophomore at Stephenson high school this fall, has been showing steers in the Junior Livestock Show for six years. Last year's entry was her first grand champion, though she had a reserve champion several years ago.

"This fat stock show is something I'd like to see continue to grow at the fair," said her dad. "This gives the kids on a dairy farm an opportunity to learn something about beef."

"It also teaches the kids something about care and feeding of an animal," said Grey Knaus, beef department superintendent. Susan's winner was the lone steer on the farm.

Young Paul Dittrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dittrich, recently received his steer in a cow-calf program sponsored by the Escanaba Kiwanis Club. Under the program, he will be required to turn the first female calf back to the club to allow continuation of the program.

The animal, born in June, 1965, was purchased from Ed LaMarche of Danforth. Paul is a member of the Hyde Kings & Queens 4-H Club.

Entries Are Good

In other results, Gregory Veeser of Powers placed first in the premium lightweight steer division, while Miss Bowers won the medium weight premium class. Veeser also won top honors in the steer fitting and showing contest.

Largest steer entered was a 1,050-pounder by Rodney Erickson of Carney. Lightest was 680 pounds by Geri Callovi. Break point between light and medium weight steers was 910 pounds.

"The heavier class was as nice as any we've ever had," said Knaus. "There is real good stuff all the way through this year."

Besides Dittrich's honors in the beef breeding division, Diane Johnson of Iron River won senior and reserve champion ribbons.

In the beef fitting and showmanship competition, Robert Willis of Iron River placed first in the junior class (10 to 12 years), and Allan Peterson of Carney took top honors in the senior class (13 and over).

Win Trophies

Peterson and Dittrich each won two trophies awarded by outside organizations — Peterson the best hereford senior female trophy awarded by Ed LaMarche and the senior showmanship award presented by Veeser's Triple E Farm of Powers and Dittrich the best hereford junior female award by Vince Peterson of Carney and the grand champion female junior livestock award from Production Credit Association of Escanaba.

Other awards went to Gregory Veeser, steer showmanship trophy, awarded by Merlin Atkins, Sault Ste. Marie; Robert Willis, Iron River, junior showmanship trophy, awarded by Bramscheiber's, Menominee; Mary Dalgord, Fayette, best hereford cow and calf, awarded by Dalgord Hereford Farm, Fayette; and Miss Bowers, hereford steer trophy for best steer, awarded by Ray Hereford Farms, Carney.

Board Adopts Athletic Rules

The Holy Name Board of Education has approved unanimously a set of Athletic Rules submitted by the coaching staff governing the conduct of athletes involved in all major sports.

The Board also authorized the purchasing of a 10,000 gallon gasoline tank, pump and necessary fixtures.

Sealed bids will be let for approximately 14,000 gallons of gasoline on or before Aug. 19.

The final budget report for the school years 1965-66 was submitted.

The report showed an expenditure of $121,530 during the last fiscal year leaving the budget $88.97 in the black. $68,165 of last year's budget was paid for in student tuition and the remaining $63,455 of the budget was paid in assessments from the Sunday Offertory Collection of the parishes associated with Holy Name High.

The Board also approved the letting of bids to receive prices for the purchase of gravel for the parking lot area in the rear of the school.

Cyclone fencing for the new athletic complex was also discussed.

1966 Second Best Car Output Year

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. auto industry completed its 1966 model output last week and reported a total output second only to that of record 1965.

All told, 8,611,928 of the '66's were built compared with 8,849,032 in the previous model year.

A number of auto plants were already starting their 1967 production runs last week, as '67 models accounted for 5,895 of the 10,771 automobiles built. These figures were down from 10,321 and 18,427 in the same week a year ago.

Production so far in August totaled 29,198, and output for the calendar year reached 5,412,653, compared with 6,097,507 at this point last year.

The industry, though lagging behind 1965 totals so far, plan a faster start in new-model output. Schedules call for manfacture of 787,000 of the '67's in August and September, compared with 565,000 of the 1966 models in the same two months last year.

Grand Slam of Candidates

Political Greats At Fair

The U. P. State Fair this week offers a grand slam in political stars in addition to its other attractions.

Dem. gubernatorial nominee Zolton Ferency will be at the Fair on Thursday afternoon and evening, announces Claude Tobin on the Democratic County Committee.

Gov. George Romney and Mrs. Romney will highlight the program for the Fair's traditional Governor's luncheon at the House of Ludington on Friday noon, says Atty. Robert Hansley, in charge of arrangements. The public is invited. The Governor will address the grandstand crowd at the afternoon show at the Fair. It will also feature the Northern Michigan University music camp band, choral group and baton twirlers.

Sunday will bring both U. S. Senator Robert Griffin and his challenger in the Nov. 8 election, Democratic U. S. senatorial nominee former Gov. G. Mennen Williams to the Fair.

Williams is in Jennings Hospital in Detroit for treatment of two small kidney stones, but expected to be well enough to be released to attend the Michigan Democratic Convention in Grand Rapids on Friday.

Tobin said the present schedule calls for him to fly to Escanaba on Sunday, arriving about 3 p.m., and to spend the afternoon and evening at the Fair, which closes Sunday night.

Stunter Hurt In Bike Leap

Lucky O'Hara's luck ran out last night and Jim Leach, 24, of Green Bay was banged up in the auto thrill show before a big grandstand crowd at the opening of the U. P. State Fair.

Lucky O'Hara's luck was perking again this morning, however, and Leach was released from St. Francis Hospital, where he was a patient overnight with a diagnosis of multiple bruises. He got them the hard way, with a motorcycle jump over four parked cars and a truck.

Leach made the jump without mishap in the afternoon show, but he tangled up in landing at the night show — probably because of a dewy ramp — and was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. His wife saw him spill. They have three children. The Leaches live in Green Bay, Wis., where the Lucky O'Hara Dare Devil Drivers show bases. He is a professional stunter.

Fran Thompson of Milwaukee was the other star of the show. He stayed out of the hospital despite being run over by a truck, taking a slide on the track through burning gasoline at 50 mph and being dynamited out of a coffin.

The show's destruction of five old automobiles by crashing was a dramatic proof of seat belt safety. The drivers emerged from each crash with a wave of an arm in salute to crowd and the wrecker towed away the shattered wrecks. Helmets and seat belts were the only protective devices, along with lots of know-how about lying down on the seat before impact so a crushed top didn't crush a dare devil's head.

Griffin, said Thomas Aos of Gladstone, president of the Delta County Griffin Club, will campaign in Detroit in the weekend and then fly to his home at Traverse City Saturday night and to Escanaba on Sunday, arriving at 2 p.m. He will be at the fair from 2:50 to 5:15 and from 7:15 to 8:30 and will visit the Bishop Noa Home and other places. He will go to Iron Mountain Sunday night and address a breakfast meeting there Monday morning.

Ferency's schedule calls for him to arrive in Escanaba from Iron Mountain tonight. He has been campaigning in the Upper Peninsula. He will go to Manistique and Port Inland early Thursday, return to Escanaba about 11 a.m. and go to the Fair.

Congressman Raymond Clevenger, Democrat, is expected at the Fair on Sunday and Philip Ruppe, of Houghton, Republican nominee for congressman in the 11th District was at the Fair last night and today. He will be toastmaster at the Romney luncheon Friday at the Ludington.

Faville Retires

LANSING (AP) — Stanton Faville, 64, will retire Friday as chief state assistant attorney general, a post he has held under three attorneys general since 1955. He will practice privately and work with Supreme Court Justice Paul Adams. No successor has been named.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Holy Name Board of Education will receive sealed bids on approximately 14,000 gallons of gasoline on or before August 19, 1966, said bids to be delivered to the Holy Name Business Office, 2117 Third Avenue South, Escanaba, Michigan. The Board of Education reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids and to waive all irregularities deemed in the best interest of the school. Bidder proposal sheets may be obtained from the Business Office at Holy Name.

Escanaba police who investigated the accident that occurred in the 2500 block, Ludington St., at 2:45 p. m., Sunday, cited Mrs. Grenier for failing to exercise due care.

They reported that her car going west, struck the rear of a car driven by Rose Mary Blake, 1500 Lake Shore Drive, which had slowed for a car driven by Lynn Ellen Putt, 1315 S. 1st Ave., which had stopped waiting for an oncoming car to make a turn.

Post For Park

The proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in the northern Lower Peninsula ran into some heavy seas in the House Interior Committee this month, and for a while it appeared that the plan was doomed. The committee, in a surprise action, voted down the bill to create the lakeshore by a margin of 12 to 8. But the following week Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa.) moved that the committee reconsider its action, and the committee reversed itself, voting 17 to 12 to approve the bill, which already had been passed by the Senate. (The reversal was explained by the presence of some committee members who had been absent when the first vote was taken.)

All of this is of more than passing interest to Upper Peninsula residents because of the relationship of the Sleeping Bear Dunes proposal to the proposal to create a similar national lakeshore in the Pictured Rocks-Grand Sable Dunes area of Alger County.

* * *

Both proposals originally met with stiff opposition. But whereas modifications and compromises in the original Pictured Rocks bill resulted in almost unanimous support for the proposal, hard cores of local resistance still remain against the Sleeping Bear Dunes bill. Approval of the latter bill by the House Interior Committee was a big hurdle for proponents of the measure, and it is generally expected now that the bill will receive full House approval.

How will this affect the Pictured Rocks bill? One of the objections to the bill from some quarters has been that approval of this measure would give Michigan two new national lakeshores in a single year. In spite of this, however, both U.S. Senator Philip Hart and Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger have expressed optimism that the Pictured Rocks Bill will receive final approval this year.

* * *

The Washington Post has joined in supporting approval now of the Pictured Rocks bill. In a recent editorial, the Post said:

"The House Interior Committee's unanimous approval of the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore Bill seems to open the door to a valuable addition to the national parks system. This proposed park on Lake Superior in the Northern Peninsula of Michigan is part of a complex of scenic attractions extending from Mackinac Island to Fort Wilkins, the Copper Country and the Porcupine Mountains State Park. It will be an especially significant acquisition because it lies in the Midwest, where the need for additional scenic breathing space is acute.

* * *

"The Pictured Rocks are multicolored sandstone cliffs from 50 to 200 feet high extending for about 15 miles along the south shore of Lake Superior. In addition to these interesting formations, the 67,000 acres proposed for the park include Grand Sable Banks and Dunes, the Beaver Basin, a number of picturesque inland lakes and numerous waterfalls. Fishing, boating and water skiing are favorite sports in the area and the park is expected to become a year-round recreation center.

"Most of the scenic features are near the lake shore, but an additional 39,000 acres are deemed essential as an inland buffer zone to protect the watershed and provide a forest setting. It is contemplated that Beaver Basin will be preserved as a natural area. A scenic road will ultimately link some of the more important attractions and numerous trails will be constructed. Congress ought if possible to complete action on this extension of the national parks system before ending its 1966 session."

Fat Have-Nots

Something's wrong here: The poor are getting fatter, the rich are getting thinner.

Yet that's what a study recently published by the American Dieticians Association indicates. In a survey, the council found "an impressive relationship between socio-economic status and obesity."

To be specific, 30 per cent of the "have not" group were on the heavy side. This contrasted with 16 per cent for the middle class and only 5 per cent for the very well-to-dos.

The council's findings are supported by those of two other research groups who report that poor people favor patterns of diet in which nutrition and taste are not the only considerations.

Take cottage cheese, for instance, a product with low cost and high nutrition. The lowest income groups are, surprisingly, indifferent to it.

According to nutritionists, cottage cheese is a natural choice for low-budget shoppers. But they tend to keep aloof from it because, like most low-cost foods, "it just doesn't have status."

Instead, often at great economic sacrifice, the low-income family goes in for status-related foods like beef because it gives them an illusion of economic well-being that they need, say the explainers.

The rich, on the other hand, don't need that kind of reassurance, thus eat more sensibly and stay slender.

Divorce Reform

It was the opposition of that fusty, crusty old institution, the Church of England, to Edward VIII's desire to marry a divorcee which helped bring about the only abdication of a British monarch in history.

Thus it is significant that it is the church—or more accurately, a group of its leading members—which today is calling for a sweeping reform of British divorce law to bring it up to date with modern life.

An unofficial report prepared by the group at the request of the Archbishop of Canterbury proposes the abolition of the present system of "grounds" and the labeling of one spouse as guilty and the other innocent.

In place of the three existing grounds (adultery, desertion and mental cruelty), it recommends but one reason for divorce—the breakdown of the marriage. The function of divorce courts would be "judicial inquiry into the fact and causes of the 'death' of a marriage relationship."

According to the group, this would make divorce "not a reward for marital virtue on the one side and a penalty for marital delinquency on the other, not as a victory for one spouse and a reverse for the other, but a defeat for both."

Much the same thing has long been advocated by divorce reformers in this country.

Such a doctrine of "marital breakdown" would eliminate all of the hypocracy now attending divorce cases. It would also deprive a lot of lawyers of a lot of income.

Lawlessness Spreads

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A good proportion of the American people is hiding from some very unpleasant truths about itself.

Far too often, public behavior of Americans is appalling. Many are openly and aggressively lawless. Others are basically lawless in spirit and, though they would not acknowledge it, have developed an incredibly high tolerance of crime and violence. Evidently they can feel neither shame nor shock.

Short of the grosser offenses against their fellow Americans, many have made trespass and other invasions of privacy virtually a way of life. They are arrogantly ill-mannered on the highway and in every public place. They are uncaring and indifferent toward the rights and needs of other human beings.

The courts of this country are currently embarked on a process of reinforcing shaky individual freedoms. But while they are about it, countless Americans are turning freedom into license.

They exhibit a contempt for authority which is destructive of freedom. They really do not think that any kind of hampering, uncomfortably, disagreeable law ought to apply to them personally.

In an age that is probing deep into the mysteries of human conduct, they have begun to convert explanations of misbehavior into excuses for it—as Chicago's scholarly police chief, O. W. Wilson, points out.

In a nation whose political system is founded on the will of the electorate, some Americans are pretty close to saying that there is no individual will and no personal responsibility. The offender is always the creature of forces:

"He came from a broken home . . . He was a deprived person . . . He was unloved . . . He blacked out."

Some probers into conduct seem to stop just short of arguing that crime is human and, hence, democratic.

Indeed, the ennobling cloak of the word "democratic" is today being thrown over all manner of licentious behavior. The word is being defined to mean:

"I am to be left alone to do or say anything I please, regardless of the consequences to others."

Any interference with such unbridled behavior is being promptly labeled in some circles as "undemocratic" and even "fascistic." Some of those brilliant young fools at Berkeley and other campuses argue that they are bound by no law or rule they had no part in making. They accept no authority but their own constantly shifting opinion.

Some Negro leaders frankly justify lawlessness and violence done in the name of their rights. A few appear to contend they are above the law.

The most startling comment made recently in Chicago by Stokely Carmichael, hot-headed "black power" advocate and chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, was this:

"We've got to let them (the white community) know that when they arrest one of us in our community, we're going to move to disrupt this whole country."

The consequences of turning freedom into anarchy are written large across the face of this country—in shattering, death-dealing riots, in a rising crime rate that the most unemotional public authorities think spells crisis.

If it is the crisis they say it is, then the hiding from ugly truths cannot continue much longer.

The reassuring words "only a minority does these things" will no longer suffice. Misbehavior, up to and including the breaking of laws, is a commonplace in 1966 for many millions of Americans.

The numbers involved are frightening. There is almost no place to escape the depredations. He who says the peril to a sane society is exaggerated is whistling past a graveyard loaded with people who thought "it can't happen to me."

One of the truly comic notions of the age is the idea the American people are constricted by overorganization. Beneath the top-heavy weight of big government, big business, big everything, millions are managing ingeniously to live nearly unfettered in increasingly dangerous and destructive chaos.

A new attraction to the neighborhood of the 1200 block on Stephenson Ave. and the few blocks surrounding was the pet of the Cleve Moore family who resided at 1221 Stephenson Ave. Their pet was a tame crow, "Cocky," who delighted the Moore family and their neighbors with his antics during the past few months.

An incident Monday night involving boys playing with fire near the Community College building has prompted me to make a special plea to parents of all children in the area. Please instruct your children not to play on the college property, since it is not supervised as a playground. We have a concern for the protection of the children. Very often your children are climbing the fire escapes and placing themselves in hazardous positions. The police are able to maintain a general degree of protection of the taxpayers' properties; however, the principal responsibility has to rest with the parents, of course.

While we have basic insurance for protection, it would still cost parents and taxpayers a considerable amount if injury or fire were to result from the wrongdoing of youth. We sincerely appreciate the cooperation of the community in this respect.

The Doctor Says:

Emphysema Is Increasing

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

(First of two related articles)

Emphysema, a condition in which the exhalation of air from the lungs is obstructed, appears to be increasing. It was once thought to be a special hazard of glassblowers and players of wind instruments but we now know that such blowing does not damage the lungs. The cause instead is irritation of the lungs by our increasingly polluted air and especially by cigarette smoking.

The victim in time becomes disabled because of the interference with the normal functioning of his lungs. Although many drugs and other forms of treatment have been used to relieve this condition, the first essential is to give up smoking.

Drugs that dilate the bronchial tubes such as racemic epinephrine hydrocloride (Vaponefrin) and isoproterenol (Isuprel) are beneficial, especially when their use is combined with postural drainage (lying across a bed with the head near the floor to allow secretions to flow out by gravity).

These drugs are inhaled as aerosols. They work best when the inspired air is humidified by a nebulizer. Although motor - driven compressed air pumps may be used to run large nebulizers, hand bulbs or cartridges of compressed air or oxygen for portable nebulizers are available. Many victims now using such equipment have been able to resume their work without fear of an acute attack of wheezing and shortness of breath.

Respiratory stimulants-aminophylline is probably the best because it also acts as a bronchial dilator—have a limited value since they must be injected into the vein and the effect does not last long.

Another important part of the treatment of emphysema is getting rid of any chronic low grade infection that may have taken up quarters in the weakened lungs. This is best accomplished by the use of antibiotics. The restlessness that often accompanies emphysema is best treated by improving the ventilation of the lungs as already outlined. Sedatives, sleeping pills and the like should be avoided because they depress the respiratory center of the brain.

The use of oxygen and breathing exercises will be dealt with in another column.

An innovation started just six months ago by the State Corrections Department will soon begin paying at least part of its own way.

Some 57 inmates are involved in a program in which they work outside the prison compound during the day and return to their penal home at night.

Earnings of the men reached $30,000 at the six-month mark. One third of each inmate's earnings is set aside to support his dependents. The bulk of the remainder is put into savings for the inmate's start when he finishes his prison term.

* * *

The Corrections Department also assesses a small portion of the earnings to help defray the operating costs of the work-pass program. This amount is returned to the state's general fund.

Department Director Gus Harrison says the plan is working exceptionally well. Both the employer and the inmates involved are pleased with the arrangement.

Harrison said a number of employers participating in the program have indicated they would like to maintain their inmate-workers after parole. The department chief said offers of this type would not be included in the plan because the department does not want to place large numbers of parolees in any given community.

* * *

Most inmates in the program indicate they appreciate the confidence placed in them and the opportunity to help support their families.

Under the program, no inmate convicted of a sex offense or assaultive crime is allowed to participate. Inmates are placed in jobs only if the regular labor supply is short.

Ann Landers

Train Youngsters To Care For Selves

Dear Ann Landers: This letter comes to you from the director of research of the Child Safety Council in Jackson, Michigan. I write in reference to your advice to "Heartbroken Neighbor." (She was discussing a child who swallowed a fatal dose of aspirin tablets.)

You advised mothers to keep harmful products locked up and out of the reach of children. I'm sure you will agree that busy mothers will not heed such advice mainly because of the inconvenience to themselves.

And what about things that cannot be locked up—for example, vines, plants and berries found in back yards and empty lots? Rhubarb leaves, for example, can be fatal when eaten.

The Safety Council would like to suggest that the best rule is to keep a watchful eye on your children at all times. Proper supervision is the only answer to the prevention of many types of child accidents—not only poisonings but drowning, burns, falls, molestation and so on.

Thank you for bringing the matter before the American public. Millions of people read Ann Landers even though they read nothing else.—Mrs. W.C.

Dear Mrs. W.C.: I agree that my advice, while correct, was more than a bit impractical. I appreciate your calling the letter to my attention.

Your suggestion that mothers keep a watchful eye on their children at all times, is good—but like mine, it is also unrealistic. A busy mother can't police her children every minute of the day, nor should she need to.

Let's take the best of my advice and the best of your advice and add one more suggestion, which I believe is the most practical of all. Here it is:

Mothers: From the moment they learn to walk and talk, teach your children that they must not eat or drink anything without first coming to you to ask if it is all right.

This training can be instilled in the very young and it could mean the difference between life and death.

We cannot protect our children from every kind of danger no matter how hard we try. The real answer is to train them to take care of themselves.

Ann Landers: You are not dear to me. You caused me a great deal of grief and I think you owe it to me to repair the damage.

It all happened because of the letter you printed signed "Ethel." She was the wife who was having lot of dental work done. Her husband told her not to run up too big a bill because she was getting on in years and he didn't see any sense in having her lie around in the cemetery with all that gold in her mouth.

It so happens that I am having a lot of dental work done and all my friends know it. When that letter came out in the paper I received so many phone calls I had to leave the receiver off the hook. I finally had to call a doctor for my nerves and he put me on tranquilizers. I figure this is all your fault.

Please print the name of the city that letter came from. And it had better not be Houston. —ANOTHER ETHEL

Dear Ethel: Sorry about that. The name of the city is Chicago. Any person who has the brains he was born with should know that I would never print the real initials, let alone the real signature in such a case.

I apologize if I made trouble for you. I also made a little trouble for myself. Several New York readers accused me of insulting one of their Senators.

Reserve Callup Vote Is Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators face a showdown today on a proposal to give President Johnson authority to call up thousands of young military reservists — now exempt — for possible combat duty in Viet Nam.

The President has not asked for such authority.

The reserves proposal and other controversial riders — including a proposed $22.5-million slash — upset plans of Senate leaders to complete passage Tuesday of a massive $58 billion-plus defense money bill.

Needing a two-thirds majority to add their reserve callup proposal to the appropriation measure, Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., based their appeal on fair treatment for draftees and volunteers in the Southeast Asian war.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, presumably with White House backing, has rejected congressional suggestions that the citizen-soldiers be called to active duty.

Officials estimated that more than 500,000 ready reservists, including the 133,000 who Russell and Saltonstall say lack basic training, would come under the Senate proposal.

Big Dairy Ranches Coming?

Dr. Charles Lassiter, head of the Dairy Department at Michigan State University, has a concern about Michigan dairying, he told the annual dairymen's banquet at the U. P. State Fair last night, but it is not the familiar one about dairying expiring.

It is that in the new dairy industry era now opening the dairy farmers of the state will miss the boat and that industrial investors will pick off the profits that are in prospect from milk production.

The thing that Dr. Lassiter fears hasn't happened yet, but there are strong indications, he says, that it is coming. He knows of industrial type dairy farm operations being planned for Ohio and Indiana, one for 2,000 cows, one for 1,000 cows. "They're just waiting for good management," he said.

Gidlofs Champions

Dr. Lassiter was speaker at the dairy banquet at which the Upper Peninsula's annual Dairy Herd Improvement Association awards are made to the U. P.'s best herdsmen. Jack Little, U. P. Extension dairyman and director of the U. P. Farm Experiment Station at Chatham, was toastmaster and Extension directors from the U. P. counties introduced their outstanding dairymen and 4-H youths.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertil Gidlof of Stephenson, Menominee County, are the champion big herd milk producers of the Upper Peninsula this year. Their 34 cow herd produced an average of 16,556 pounds of milk in the year, or 591 pounds of butterfat per cow. The milk tested 3.57 per cent butterfat.

Top small herd (24 cows or less) honors went to David Liimakka, Ironwood, whose 21 cows produced an average of 13,789 pounds of milk and 558 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Merit Awards

It's a rule of thumb with dairymen that dairy cows producing 400 pounds of butterfat or more are making money for their owner, as they are making $400 per cow and that's about twice what it costs to feed them for a year.

Awards of merit in dairy herd production were made to: (large herds listed first): Alger: Edgar Williams 13,151-456; Wilho Laurila, 13,375-481; Marquette: Paul VanDamme, 12,-616-435; Baraga: Wesley Mylyla, 12,835-490; Donald Lehto, 9,809-434; Chippewa, Melvon Stahl & Sons, 13,747-521; Stan Atkinson, 11,145-393; Delta: Melvin Racicot, 12,707-489; Albert Whybrew & Sons, 12,-531-474.

Dickinson, Henry Wender, 11,701-485; Edward Supa, 12,-385-487; Gogebic: (small herd) David Diimakka, 13,789-558; Houghton: Hugo Kemppainen, 13,231-494; Mrs. Paul Pouttu, 11,000-534; Iron: (small herd) Edwin Jarvis, 13,893-522; Mackinac: John Kronemyer, 12,-248-405; Menominee: Bertil Gidlof, 16,556-591; Hon-E-Noi Farm (Gail Bowers), 14,753-534.

The award was presented to the Gidlofs by August E. Hokens, Ewen, of the Fair Board of Managers.

Time For Interest

"We haven't written U. P. dairy farming off yet and we have no intention of doing it," said Dr. Lassiter. "This is no time for pessimism about dairy farming in this part of the state. Just the opposite. We can see changes at both the consumer level and government level and a changing regard for agriculture and for milk and food production.

"Americans have come to realize that agriculture is important and that food is cheap. We spend less than any other country in the world for our food, but there is a limit to how long we can go and we have got to keep the American farmer competitive.

Surplus Gone

"Tonight there are no surplus dairy stocks. This is good. It has far-reaching affect on attitudes. I expect it to affect Class 1 (drinking) milk prices at the consumer level.

"This time the basic condition is beginning to run in the other direction. In the 10 years I have been in Michigan I have never seen a time when dairying looked better at the producer level. Those who want to be dairy farmers, I think, are going to have a good economic return. I am not saying that there are not going to have to be changes, an industry as powerful as this is always going to have changes; it is always going to have to produce economically.

"I'm a little irritated by reports of average farm income. If I were average I'd apply for the poverty program. Lots of people top these levels.

Prices Are Up

"Now that we have a halfway decent price we have to regulate the supply in some manner. Price and supply go hand in hand. I hope that as the dairy farmers of Michigan get $5 plus (per hundredweight) as they're going to get this fall, that they don't let supply get out of hand.

"With the prices today I can see the way to investment in the dairy business. I'd like to see our dairying families gain this benefit, but if they are not careful we are going to see investors come in and take over our business. The days ahead of us look real good—wonderful. We are going to lose some more farmers, but if people want to farm and go a good job of it they are going to be rewarded. We have seen the last $4 fluid milk in Michigan for a long time."

"What bothers me is that with $5.25 or $5.40 milk this fall there'll be 6 to 7 per cent return in dairy farming and that is going to interest investors if they can find labor and management. If it happens they are going to be large operations. It has happened in beef. Western Nebraska has been practically taken over by such operations."

AUGUST HOKENS, Ewen, of the U.P. State Fair Board of Managers, right, presents the championship trophy for top big herd milk production in the Upper Peninsula to Mr. and Mrs. Bertil Gidlof of Stephenson, Menominee County. Brown Swiss Show Dying

The 1966 Brown Swiss cattle show at the U. P. State Fair may be the last one, according to Jack Little, Chatham, dairy breed superintendent.

"All of the shows except the Brown Swiss are as good or better than last year," he said. "This is one of the best Jersey shows we've ever had."

Only about a dozen Brown Swiss cows were entered in the Fair this year and prospects for the future don't look much better, Little said. in some catagories of judging, ony one cow was entered.

Dale Ford of Cornell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ford took grand and senior champion honors in the purebred female Brown Swiss division, while Neil VanDrese, also of Cornell, won junior and grand champion honors in the Brown Swiss grade group.

Kenneth Benson of Shady Valley Farms, Powers won senior, junior and grand champion honors, the male Jersey division and also took junior and reserve honors in the female class. Gerald Benson, Lone Elm Farm, Carney, won senior and grand champion female honors for Jerseys.

Farm Bureau

The discussion topic, "The Value of Community Farm Bureau Groups," was led by Marvin Ray at the meeting of the Tower Farm Bureau held Monday evening at his home. Community groups began in 1936 in Michigan and it has been found to be of value in uniting members with the organization.

The minute man report was given by Leonard Veeser and pertained to two farm bills passed recently. Paul Ray told of the Citizenship Seminar held in the Escanaba Junior High July 12-13. Marvin Ray and one other member have been delegated to take care of the Farm Bureau booth at the U. P. State Fair this week.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ray at the conclusion of the business meeting. The next meeting will be held at the Leonard Veeser home in Harris on Monday, Sept. 19.

Mrs. Frank Gorski and three grandchildren, who have been visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Julius Kwarciany, for the past two weeks, returned to their home in Chicago, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albin Olson of Ypsilanti were guests the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Olson. Mrs. Mary Olson, who had been a guest of the Albin Olsons for several weeks returned with them.

Mother Needs Sewing Machine, Treadle Type

Wanted: One sewing machine. Must not be modern. In fact it must be an old foot treadle type.

Ray LaPorte, Community Action Agency director, says the machine is needed by a mother of several children who lives in the country where there is no electric power.

Her old machine — and it was a very old one — is now worn out and LaPorte said a "new" one will fill the bill.

Persons who may have an old treadle sewing machine in working condition they can contribute are asked to call LaPorte. He will have the machine called for and delivered to the family.

Main Issues Being Ducked, Mayor States

The City Council, at a special meeting Monday night, voted to use wood poles for the proposed downtown street lighting program. The vote was 3-2 with Mayor Thor Reque and Charles Varnum voting against use of wood poles.

Mayor Reque said he felt a more substantial pole should be used and that sentiment of the businessmen favored this. Councilman Varnum said he did not feel all avenues of financing had been explored.

An ordinance was adopted amending the anti-blight ordinance to require grass and weed cutting on lots when fire hazard, health hazard or damage to neighborhood appearance occurs.

A special meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 18 to receive information on bids for a new ambulance and police station wagon.

Mayor Thor Reque has asked for a special meeting devoted to consideration of street, water and sewage improvements needed in the community, citing that "the main issues are being ducked and we're going all around them on little things."

Ferency Says Romney Fades

DETROIT (AP) — Zolton Ferency thinks Gov. George Romney could whip him if the election for governor were held today. But he also says the tide is turning in his favor.

"If published public opinion polls were accurate, the results of the primary election, particularly in out - state areas, indicate that Romney has slipped badly in recent weeks," Ferency said.

The Democratic state chairman said voters are displeased with Romney's veto of a liberalized unemployment compensation bill and the governor's "carping criticism and fuzzy thinking about U.S. policy in Southeast Asia."

"Romney's endorsement of Ronald Reagan and his increased activity on behalf of the Republican party in general has finally convinced many people that our Republican governor's earlier claims of 'independence' and 'being above politics' were merely shams and subterfuges...," Ferency said.

"Now that the real George Romney is beginning to stand up," he added, "I'm convinced I can knock him down on Nov. 8."

Fair Queen Contest Draws 19 Beauties

By JANET MARTIN

Nineteen young hopefuls from all over the Upper Peninsula are in Escanaba today to compete for the title of Miss Upper Peninsula State Fair Queen.

Following registration at 9 a.m. in the Queen's Rooms which are located under the stage in front of the grand stand and receiving final instructions, the contestants prepared for the Queen's Luncheon at the Sherman Hotel at 12 noon.

At the luncheon the queens were introduced by Miss Judy Tanguay of Menominee, last year's U. P. Fair Queen. After being introduced, each girl spoke briefly about herself and future plans. Miss Tanguay told of her experiences while representing the Upper Peninsula at the Detroit Fair and at the Mackinac Bridge Walk.

Following the luncheon the girls returned to the fairgrounds to prepare for the afternoon grandstand show at 2 p.m. where each girl wore a costume depicting her title and was interviewed by the Master of Ceremonies.

Keeping up with the hectic pace of the day, the queens then prepared for the banquet tonight at Marco's Starlight Room. Wearing their evening gowns, the girls will exhibit the charm and poise that has brought them to the Fair as queen contestants. Following the banquet the girls will go on to the fairgrounds for the finale of a very exciting day.

After a last minute check of appearance they will be ready to face the judges for a final time and hear the announcement as to who among them has been chosen the new U.P. Fair Queen. The coronation of the 1966 queen will highlight the evening's grandstand show.

Miss Tanguay spoke of the excitement of the contest and that it brought back many memories of last year. She also remarked on the stiff competition and that as always, the decision would not be an easy one.

"I'm just a little bit nervous so far," said Miss Schoolcraft County, Jayne Swartstrom.

"Just really glad to be here," said Miss Snow Mobile, Kathy Jahn.

"Not nervous at all yet and very happy to be here," remarked Miss Jo Lee Works of Bessemer, Miss Winter Carnival.

An added feature of this year's queen contest will be the returning of former queens of the Fair and they are present for the queen program today.

In addition to Miss Judith Tanguay of Menominee, this year's hostess queen there are: Mrs. Robert Houle, 1946, the former Colleen Rappette; Mrs. Roger Hesseling, 1963, the former Roni Rose of Escanaba; Mrs. Douglas Olson, 1958, the former Elaine Barley of Menominee; Mrs. John Greis, 1947, the former Irma Bartley of Escanaba; Melissa Fuller, 1963 runner-up from Newberry.

Assisting with the coronation tonight will be pages, Jill Burroughs of Gladstone and Marcia White of Ontonagon. Escorting the contestants will be Tom Schmeltzer and Brent Baum.

OPENING REGISTRATION for the 1966 U.P. State Fair Contest are from left, Miss Schoolcraft County, Jayne Swartstrom; Miss Snowmobile, Kathy Jahn; Mrs. Vera Clairmont, director of the pageant pinning a banner on Miss Winter Carnival of Bessemer, Jo Lee Works. Miss Prioletto To Be Bride Of William Langren

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Prioletto of 986 Fifth Ave., East McKeesport, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Ann, to William Ward Langren, son of Mrs. Cecil Langren of Escanaba and the late Mr. Langren.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bowling Green State University in Ohio where she was affiliated with Kappa Delta Sorority. She is presently teaching at L'Anse Creuse Public School in Mt. Clemens.

Her fiance, an alumnus of Northern Michigan University in Marquette, has served with the U. S. Air Force and is employed as a social worker for the Detroit Chapter of the American Red Cross.

A December wedding is being planned by the couple.

When you are simmering salmon steaks in water or court-bouillon, you'll need to give them about 12 minutes cooking time. Serve the steaks chilled with homemade mayonnaise for lunch or Sunday night supper.

Vice-President's Son To Be Married Aug. 27

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although almost unnoticed in the tumult and glare of publicity of Luci Baines Johnson's wedding, there's another marriage this summer with high official interest.

The vice president's son, Robert A. Humphrey, marries a stunning blue-eyed blonde of Norwegian descent on Aug. 27 in Minneapolis, Minn.

It should be a picture wedding: Bob is 22, dark and handsome. His bride, Donna Erickson, 21, is a 5-foot-4 former beauty queen from Hampton, Minn.

Like Luci, Donna insists her wedding is "a family affair."

Like Luci, Donna plans a Saturday nuptial Mass. She is Roman Catholic. Bob is Protestant. And like Luci, Donna chose to move her ceremony from her parish church to a larger sanctuary, the 1,200-seat St. Olaf's Catholic church in Minneapolis.

Bob and Donna's wedding originally was scheduled for July 9, but was postponed when she was hospitalized for three weeks with pneumonia.

She was out of the hospital Aug. 6, but that was Luci's day to become Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington. Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey attended that wedding. Bob and Donna did not.

Whereas hundreds of newsmen covered the Nugent rites, the Humphrey's Washington press office said it has only about a dozen requests for coverage.

Donna's wedding party will include 16 persons. Her bridal gown is as carefully guarded a secret as was Luci's. An uncle, Larry Doffing of Hampton, Minn., will give her away.

The reception will be at the Humphrey's lakeside retreat in Waverly, Minn., 40 miles west of Minneapolis. Green and white tents will be set up on the lawn and a combo will provide music.

During the postponement, Bob moved into the couple's one-bedroom honeymoon apartment with a college classmate, Greg Schermann, who will be a groomsman in the wedding.

Bob and Donna's romance blossomed at Mankato State College where both were students.

They met two years ago.

The 112-pound Donna had sung her way to the "Miss Hastings" title with a rendition of "Secret Service" from the musical, "Mr. President."

They announced their engagement last New Year's Eve — a week after Luci and Pat made headlines announcing their's.

Bob plans to graduate next June with a business administration degree. Donna received her degree in elementary education this June, and plans to teach second grade this year in West Mankato, near the college.

Subway Station Fashion Show?

NEW YORK (AP) — A fashion show in a subway station?

They had one Tuesday underneath Times Square, where the entrance to the Times Square station through the old Times Tower — now the Allied Chemical Building — was reopened.

It had been closed since 1963 while the building was facelifted.

To celebrate the reopening, Allied sponsored a fashion show featuring six models who walked a red-carpeted runway on the station floor.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

A super-duper way to store your wigs is to put your wig block on the end of a plumber's plunger!

I like to use a short-handled one for this. The suction cup will hold it in place on a shelf, or in a closet, if you don't have a wig box.

Mrs. H. W.

• • •

Yes, Mrs. H. W., you're exactly right. A woman who sells and styles wigs, told me that she also uses the longest-handled "plumber's friend" she could find when she sets a wig. She does it sitting down, the rubber suction part on the floor, the stick between her knees, and the wig block on the handle. There is a hole in the bottom of the wig block that exactly fits the plunger handle. This way, the rollers can be in her lap while she dresses the wig.

She also uses her "plumber's friend" to plop on the dressing table, put the hair dryer cap over the whole caboodle and dries away.

Here's something else I have learned if you set your own wig:

If you do not wear it often, leave the rollers in the wig until you are going to use it. The humidity and moisture in the air sometimes makes a wig droop.

If you like to keep it set at all times, she suggested that as soon as it is perfectly set and dried, you tie one of those thin plastic bags from the cleaners over the top of the wig. It will keep out the moisture.

Now isn't that cute?

Dear Heloise:

I have a little trick for parents who take small children to church (or any meeting) where they must be quiet.

I take along a few pipe cleaners for them to play with. These cleaners can be twisted into all sorts of shapes, and if dropped, they don't make any noise.

Since there was no cheese cutter around, I grabbed the potato peeler and it worked just fantabulously. The cheese didn't gum up and was sliced nice and thin.

Due probably to the unusually long span of warm weather during July there was a larger number of entries in the Floriculture Department of the 1966 Upper Peninsula State Fair this year than last.

The "Fairyland Garden" began to take shape early Tuesday morning when the many exhibits began to arrive at the main exhibition building. Following the actual entering, the many bouquets and groupings were arranged and placed under the expert guidance of Mrs. Robert Jensen of Gladstone, superintendent of the department, Mrs. William Johnson of Gladstone and Walter Nelson of Escanaba, assistant superintendents.

Lovely Colors

As I observed the flowers both in the morning and again later in the afternoon on Tuesday, I could not help but be impressed with the quantity of flowers, the quality and above all, the gorgeous variety of colors, especially the lovely shades of purple and burgundy. The wild flowers were also very attractive.

The judging of the flowers took place at 2 p.m., Tuesday and this was thoroughly handled by Walter Wickert of Escanaba. He did say however, "It was very difficult to decide in many cases, the begonias and dahlias were of especially good quality."

There were several very unusual entries and among those I thought were particularly outstanding were the Colius plants, Oriental Hibiscus and the Chenille plants.

Men Take Honors

There are several men in the area who are frequent exhibitors and are always among the top winners and this year was no exception. John Pearce and Archie Rugg of Escanaba and Herman Johnson of Bark River were all Blue Ribbon winners this year.

The "Fairyland Garden" will be removed Thursday night to make way for the Gladiola Show which will open on Friday. All interested persons in the area are urged by the department heads to enter the show. Assistance in entering will be provided for all exhibitors.

The gladiolus will be judged on Friday and the colorful array will be displayed through Sunday, the closing day of the Fair.

Bryant Reveals Cage Conflict

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul (Bear) Bryant, head football coach at Alabama, wrote today in Sports Illustrated that he originally left Kentucky because of a conflict with basketball coach Adolph Rupp.

Characterizing his leaving as "probably the most stupid thing I ever did," Bryan wrote in the latest of a series of articles appearing in the magazine that his departure had nothing to do with the rumors that he wanted Bernie Shively's job as athletic director.

Bryant wrote that the problem was simply a clash of objectives between himself and Rupp over whether basketball or football should be the university's No. 1 sport. Bryant said if Rupp had retired when Herman L. Donovan, the school's president, wanted him to Bryant would "probably still be there."

Although Bryant wrote that "Rupp and I are real close now and I honestly think a lot of him," he revealed that the basketball scandal of 1953, involving Kentucky players, settled the clash between the two coaches.

According to Bryant, Donovan persuaded him to stay with the promise that it would be Rupp's last season. But Rupp wound up signing a new 10-year contract. "That did it," Bryant wrote.

100 Extra Points OK With Chandler

WEST DEPERE, Wis. (AP) —"I hope I kick 100 PATs."

Don Chandler, Green Bay's field goal artist, put into a kicker's word the old bromide, "I'd rather win than set records."

If Chandler kicks 100 points after touchdown, the Packers will breeze home to another National Football League title. The all-time record for touchdowns is 64 by the 1950 Los Angeles Rams.

Chandler led the NFL in scoring in 1963 when he contributed 106 points to the New York Giants. He got a bigger boot out of winning the championship with Green Bay last year.

"Beating Baltimore for the Western Conference title was thrilling," said the man whose field goals tied and won the sudden death playoff. "But the biggest kick I ever got was winning the championship. After all, I had been with five straight losers at New York since we won in 1956. Winning is the big thing."

Although Chandler's big contributions in 1965 were his 17 field goals in 26 attempts and 37 PATs, he got a big charge out of a 90-yard punt against San Francisco. It was only four yards short of the record of 94 set by the late Fats Henry of Canton, Ohio, in 1923.

"I got it over the head of the safety man and in and out of the end zone," said Chandler. "The line of scrimmage was the 10 so it went as a 90-yarder."

Chandler considers the trade that sent him from New York to Green Bay after the 1964 season the greatest break he ever got.

"The Giants did me a big favor," he said. "With Green Bay you always have a chance at that championship."

Some of the finest softball talent above the Big Mac will be on display at Memorial Field this weekend in the Upper Peninsula Class B championship tournament which opens with a pair of battles Thursday night.

The tournament will run through Sunday when the Upper Peninsula Class B champion is determined. The winner will advance to the state finals in Lower Michigan over the Labor Day weekend.

LOST GLOVE

The Flat Rock softball team is looking for a lost catcher's mitt that was misplaced after a game played at Memorial Field diamond last Friday night. A reward of $5 will be given to anyone returning the glove.

Final tournament berths were determined Tuesday night when district competition was completed in Marquette and Houghton.

At Marquette, a crowd of 700 fans was on hand to see Koski Korners edge Peterson's of Gwinn, 2-1, in the Class B finals. Doug Wilder was on the Koski mound and Tony Miljour tossed for Peterson's. Among the Koski players are Con Yagodzinski, Billy Koski and Duane Soine of Northern Michigan University basketball fame.

Both Koski Korners and Peterson's earned the right to advance to the Class B tournament along with Northwoods Supper Club, the Marquette district's No. 3 team.

At Houghton, Upper Peninsula Power earned the No. 1 berth and South Range Bosch the No. 2 spot. Office Supply topped the Houghton district to earn the right to advance to the Class A tourney at Crystal Falls this weekend. At Marquette, Woody's tipped Ging's, 4-1, in the Class A finals. Both teams will play in Class A.

Rounding out the list of teams that will be action here are Crystal Falls Infield Bar, Soo Northview Lounge, Escanaba Bero Motors.

The losers of Thursday's games will clash in the Friday night opener at 7:15. At 8:30 Friday night Koski Korners will take on Iron Mountain C&R Bar.

Bero Motors drew a first round bye and will play its first game Saturday at 1:30 against the winner of the game between South Range Bosch and Soo Northview which will be played at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Campy Doesn't Own Sox Hurler But He Comes Closest Thing To It

By The Associated Press

It isn't that Bert Campaneris owns Tommy John exactly, but if there is a latter-day Abraham Lincoln around Tommy would like a word with him.

The state of the Chicago pitcher's serfdom to the slippery Kansas City shortstop reached maddening, slightly ridiculous proportions Tuesday. Campaneris single-handedly ruined what could have been a fine job of pitching and accounted for the Athletics' 4-2 victory over the Sox.

Campy scored all the Kansas City runs and had four of its six hits — including three of the five given up by losing pitcher John in the seven innings he worked.

But, as usual, it was on the basepaths that Campaneris really did the damage and got John, reliever Hoyt Wilhelm and the rest of the White Sox muttering to themselves.

He began the game by beating out a single to short and moving to second on a sacrifice. Then Danny Cater walked, and the routine plays ended. Campaneris and Cater pulled a double steal and when Sox third baseman Don Buford muffed the throw trying to nail Campaneris, he scored.

In the third, Campy tripled and John, perhaps worried more about him then the batter, heaved a wild pitch and Campaneris was home again.

He singled in the fifth and John, who did everything but ignore him, attempted to pick him off. The ball bounded all the way down the right-field line and by the time the Sox caught up with it, Campaneris was home again.

By the eighth, John was gone and Wilhelm was facing Campy, out with no more discernible success. The little speedster singled, stole second, went to third on one passed ball and scored on another one.

In other American League games, Baltimore beat Boston 6-3, Detroit took New York 6-3, Minnesota bounced California 8-1 and Washington edged Cleveland 6-5 in 13 innings.

In the National League, Pittsburgh beat New York 3-0 in a rain-shortened 6½-inning contest, Philadelphia beat Chicago 5-3, Atlanta took Houston 4-2, Los Angeles blanked Cincinnati 2-0 and San Francisco beat St. Louis 3-1.

Campaneris' two stolen bases increased his league-leading total to 35. John (Blue Moon) Odom got his second victory but needed relief help from Jack Aker, who chalked up his 21st save of the season.

Baltimore won its usual victory with its usual weapon, home runs. Boog Powell's 31st of the season—a three-run shot in the ninth—tied the score and, after Curt Blefary reached base on an error, Bob Johnson hit his first of the year, Earlier, Frank Robinson hit his 37th and number 261 for a man, tying him with Joe DiMaggio at 15th on the all-time list.

Ray Oyler's two-run triple sparked a five-run eighth inning that got Detroit past the Yankees. Don Wert hit a two-run homer for the Tigers and Roger Maris connected for New York.

Minnesota also used the home run to excellent advantage in crushing California. Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva, Don Mincher and Andy Kosco all had a pleasant trot around the bases. Jim Perry allowed the Angels but three hits and one unearned run.

Ken Harrelson smacked a two-run homer with two outs in the 13th accounting for Washington's victory. The Indians had tied the game twice, once on Rocky Colavito's 25th homer.

Former Mates Clash Sunday

DETROIT (AP)—A couple of quarterbacks who used to share the job with the Detroit Lions will meet in New Haven, Conn., Sunday in a National Football League exhibition.

Detroit will start Milt Plum against the New York Giants, quarterbacked by Earl Morrall, an old Lions teammate. Second-year man Tommy Myers is expected to back up Plum.

Lions coach Harry Gilmer said Tuesday he expected his team's efficiency would be reduced somewhat by injuries. Halfback Tommy Watkins and defensive tackle Alex Karras, both out with knee injuries, are not expected to play.

In addition, rookies Bob Kowalkowski, an offensive lineman, and end Bill Malinchak will put in weekend duty with National Guard units.

Hardwood Wins Tourney Crown

Hardwood captured the Tri-County Softball League tournament championship with a 7-2 decision over Bark River in the title game played at Hardwood.

The league will close Sunday Aug. 28, with an All Star team facing league champion Perronville in a benefit game for the players who were injured in the 1966 season.

Mays Equals Homer Mark With 534th

By The Associated Press

Willie Mays, on the threshhold of becoming the greatest right-handed home run hitter in baseball history, says the long ones don't come as easy as they once did.

Mays tied Jimmy Foxx for second-place on the all-time list with his 534th Tuesday night, helping Gaylord Perry win his 19th game as San Francisco topped St. Louis 3-1.

"I think it's getting harder to hit home runs because of my age," Mays said. "I'm 35, you know. Sometimes I'm not strong enough to swing the bat good."

In spite of his advancing years, Mays' home run output has earned him the National League title in each of the last two years. In fact, the 52 he blasted last year marked his best one-season production ever.

Mays' 534th came leading off the third inning against left-hander Al Jackson. It was Willie's 29th this season and left him four behind Hank Aaron, the National League leader.

The only man left with more home runs than Mays is the legendary Babe Ruth, who finished with 714. Ruth swung from the left side and helped build a power elite aura for left-handed hitters.

Foxx, who sent Mays a telegram congratulating him, said "I hope he hits 600.

"For 25 years they thought only left-handers could hit the long ones," Foxx continued. "I'm happy that another right-hander can prove he can hit."

Elsewhere, first place Pittsburgh blanked New York 3-0 in a game called by rain in the seventh inning, Philadelphia edged Chicago 5-3, Atlanta downed Houston 4-2 and Los Angeles blanked Cincinnati 2-0.

In the American League, Minnesota thumped California 8-1, Kansas City downed Chicago 4-2, Detroit whipped New York 6-3, Washington edged Cleveland 6-5 in 13 innings and Baltimore defeated Boston 6-4.

Mays' historic homer was worth $25, three autographed baseballs and a visit to the Giants' clubhouse to 18-year-old Henry Barenz, who caught the ball as it sailed over the 375-foot sign in right-center field.

"It was a good pitch," said Jackson, who later struck Mays out on a fast ball. "I don't think he was guessing. You don't have to guess to hit a home run."

Pitcher Tommie Sisk was the hero for the Pirates. He held the Mets to a pair of singles, scored one run and drove in another.

His efforts earned Sisk one "Hang in There" and one "Go Get 'Em" in the Pirates' unique award system.

The awards are handed out by The Black Maxes — Pittsburgh's clubhouse cutups, who celebrate every victory with high jinks that would make Olson and Johnson seem refined.

Four straight walks with two out in the eighth inning gave the Phillies their victory over the Cubs.

Tony Gonzalez, who had homered earlier, led off the eighth with a double. After Ferguson Jenkins retired sluggers John Callison and Rich Allen, Bill White was given an intentional walk. Then Clay Dalrymple, Dick Groat and Doug Clemens all drew unintentional walks, forcing in two runs.

Rico Carty scored two runs and Dick Kelley pitched five-hit ball for seven innings as the Braves defeated the Astros. It was Atlanta's seventh victory in the last nine games and Houston's 14th loss of the last 16.

Don Sutton blanked the Reds on two hits and Tommy Davis drove in both Dodger runs with a first inning single that extended his hitting streak to 11 straight games. It was Sutton's 10th victory, the most any rookie pitcher has had for the Dodgers since the club moved to Los Angeles in 1958.

Pittsburgh's three-time National League batting champion Roberto Clemente batted only one season in minor league ball. That was with Montreal in 1954 when he hit .257 in 87 games.

Tigers Trip Yanks, Bullpen Effective

DETROIT (AP) — Effective relief pitching by Hank Aguirre, Joe Sparma and Bill Monbouquette Tuesday night made Manager Frank Skaff feel that "maybe things are looking up" for the Tigers.

Monbouquette received credit for his third win over the Yankees this year when the Tigers rallied for three runs in the eighth inning and gained a 6-3 victory.

Johnny Podres was touched for bases-empty homers by Tom Tresh and Clete Boyer in the first inning and gave way to Aguirre after he had given up two more singles in the third to run the Yankee hit total to six.

"Podres' control was off tonight, that's all," Skaff explained. "He just couldn't put the ball where he wanted it. Happily, there's nothing wrong with his arm.

"Those three guys we had in there for relief really did a job, though didn't they?" Skaff continued. "They did just what we wanted them to do—keep the game close."

The Tigers were held to three hits through the first six innings by Al Downing, who holds five career decisions over them without a loss.

Bill Freehan doubled in the seventh and Gates Brown contributed a pinch-single for one run and Don Wert slammed a low fast ball into the seats to put the Tigers ahead, 3-2.

Roger Maris tied the score in the top of the eighth with a homer off Monbouquette but the Tigers bounced back for three runs on a double by Al Kaline an intentional walk to Jim Northrup, a single by Freehan and Ray Oyler's two-run triple.

"We had our chances early but just couldn't put the ball in the hole," Yankee Manager Ralph Houk lamented, pointing to two double plays in the first three innings. "One more hit early and we could have broken the game wide open."

"I don't think Downing was tired. Wert just hit a good ball. And, Hal Reniff (who relieved Downing in the seventh and took the loss) just had a bad night."

Oyler said he hit a "bad slider" for his triple. Asked about starting all three twin-killings pulled off by the Tigers, Oyler said, "that's what I'm paid to do."

Podres ran into trouble in the second inning when he walked Maris and gave up singles to Horace Clarke and Jake Gibbs. But he struck out Downing and Tresh bounced into a double play.

Aguirre came on with one away in the third and got Elston Howard to hit into an inning-ending double play.

The Tigers put their leadoff man on base in four of the first six innings and put runners as far as third in two of them but couldn't get the ball out of the infield after that.

Kaline and Freehan each had two hits for the Tigers while Bobby Richardson got three of the dozen collected by the Yankees, giving him seven in the last two games.

Baltimore Weakness? It Isn't Showing Yet

BOSTON (AP)—Maybe there's a weakness in Baltimore's power-packed lineup, but it isn't showing as the Orioles charge toward the American League pennant.

Held to two hits, including Frank Robinson's 37th homer, for eight innings, the Orioles exploded for five runs on long blasts by Boog Powell and unheralded Bob Johnson in the ninth Tuesday night in overpowering the Boston Red Sox, 6-4.

"That was really something," Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer said. "This club has more power than I had even hoped. Everyone is coming through with the big hit."

Robinson tied Joe DiMaggio for 15th place in the all - time home run derby with his 361st in the fourth inning, but Boston rookie Darrell Brandon appeared to have things well in hand as he took the mound in the ninth.

Russ Snyder ignited the uprising by grounding a single just past shortstop Eddie Kasko into centerfield. Robinson then was credited with a single when his sharp grounder bounced off third baseman Joe Foy and Snyder beat the attempted force at second.

Brooks Robinson forced Frank to bring up Powell, whose three homers boosted the Orioles to a 4-2 victory in 11 innings Monday night. As he did twice 24 hours earlier, Powell leaned into the first pitch, lining his 31st homer into the centerfield bleachers and tying the score.

Curt Belfary reached on a throwing error and unheralded Bob Johnson, filling in at second base to give Dave Johnson a rest, lined his first homer of the season into the screen in left center.

"I connected on the hit- and-run," Bobby Johnson said. "I know I'm only filling in for a couple of days, so it felt extra nice. I hadn't started a game in two months until last Saturday. And, you know, I hit five homers last season. One was on the hit - and - run and beat Hank Aguirre at Detroit."

Police Check Track Records

LIVONIA (AP)—State Police visited the Detroit Race Course Tuesday and made copies of track records.

The officers were aides of Circuit Judge Philip Pratt, impaneled as a one man grand juror to investigate alleged irregularities, including charges of doping horses, Hazel Park Race Track in nearby Oakland County.

The Detroit Race Course is in Wayne County, but the same allegations have been laid to it. The charges were made by State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley. Grand jury action in Wayne County is still pending final action.

Sherman Armstrong, trainer for thoroughbreds owned by Mrs. Richard A. Connell, wife of the president of Hazel Park, has been subpoenaed to appear as witness before a federal grand jury investigating an alleged gambling conspiracy case.

Four jockeys who have ridden in the Detroit area have also been called to testify.

Chuvalo Kayos Foe In Seventh

MONTREAL (AP) — George Chuvalo, Canadian heavyweight champion from Toronto, scored a seventh-round knockout over Mel Turnbow of Paterson, N.Y., in a scheduled 10-round non-title boxing match here Tuesday night.

Chuvalo, who weighed in at 220, caught his opponent with a left-right combination and sent Turnbow sprawling across the mat at 2:55 of the seventh. Turnbow weighed 240.

An estimated 3,100 fans cheered Chuvalo on, as he freely punched at Turnbow before decking him for the count of nine in the seventh.

Turnbow then got up and slumped against the ropes. Chuvalo moved in and swung a big right and a left. Turnbow then went down for the full count.

Southfield Scot Paces Golfers

LANSING (AP) — Scottish-born Hunter MacDonald of Southfield fired a 70-72—142 Tuesday to lead five qualifiers for the national amateur golf tournament at Ardmore, Pa.

The qualifiers, four of whom are Michigan men, will compete with winners from other sectional rounds Aug. 31-Sept. 3.

MacDonald, 25, twice has advanced to the fifth round of the British Amateur Tournament. He moved to Michigan from Glasgow in 1962.

Jim Jewell of Indianapolis, Ind., followed MacDonald with a 74-69—143.

A sudden - death playoff trimmed four players bunched at 147 to tie the three other qualifiers.

In the playoff, state amateur champion Bob Meyer of Niles, a graduate student at Michigan State University, birdied the first hole to gain his spot.

Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak grabbed the fourth position with a par on the second hole, while John Grace of Detroit and Fred Behymer Jr. of Lansing bogeyed the No 2 hole.

Grace birdied the third hole to win the final spot.

A 2-stroke penalty eliminated Melvin (Bud) Stevens from the qualifying list. He marked his ball twice on the seventh hole and had to take the penalty giving him a 71-77—148.

Sixty-four golfers teed off in the qualifying round at the country club in Lansing.

The Washington Senators played 12 American League games this spring before one of their pitchers achieved a complete game. Mike McCormick went the route, blanking the Yankees on five hits.

Gilchrist Trade Expected Soon, Dowler Is Sharp

Cookie Gilchrist, whose tiffs with management are well known in pro football, soon may be bucking the line for the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League.

The Denver Broncos are reported close to a deal with the Raiders for the rebellious star fullback, who has refused to play for the Broncos this season.

Mac Speedie, Denver coach, says the deal "has not been consummated yet and may not be for another couple of days." A veteran lineman, whom Speedie would not identify, and several rookies reportedly will switch from Oakland to Denver.

The reported Gilchrist trade highlighted pro activities Tuesday. Many players were cut as the AFL clubs got down to the Aug. 16, 48-player limit.

Boyd Dowler stole the show in the NFL. The Green Bay Packer and snared six passes in practice, ranging far and wide for his grabs.

Ron Mix, a star tackle, and linebacker Frank Buncom were still absent from camp of the San Diego Chargers at Escondido, Calif. The two players, who left Monday, want more money.

Fullback Clarence Peaks suffered a recurrence of a back injury in scrimmage and will be lost to the Pittsburgh Steelers for at least three weeks. Washington got guard Mitch Johnson from Dallas for an undisclosed draft choice.

The Philadelphia Eagles released halfback Jim Brown while the New York Jets put Bob Schweickert, a defensive back, and Jim Waskiewicz, a linebacker, on waivers.

Other cuts included: Oakland end Loren Hawley, defensive back Larence Chambers, tackle Pat Russ; San Francisco, center Paul Gere, linebacker Don Gunaldo, fullback Warren Jackson; San Diego, defensive back Pete Jaquess; Denver, defensive back Jerry Brussell, tackle Charlie Janetette; Buffalo, ends Ernie Warlick and Leroy Moore.

Especially do we thank Father Frieberger for his comforting words, the pallbearers, those who loaned cars and the drivers, and the many friends who sent floral bouquets. We thank you all.

Guard's Lease Rule Approved

LANSING (AP) — National Guard armories do not generally lease out their space for unreasonably low prices, reports Aud. Gen. Albert Lee.

Although one Lansing automobile dealer managed for a time to lease nearly 12 acres of land for $75 a month, the practice is not widespread, Lee said in a report requested by Sen. Edward Robinson, D-Dearborn.

The dealer conducted sales on the land, attracting the attention of legislators. They complained of the low lease price, and Robinson asked Lee to check whether any other armories were letting their space go at low prices.

The report, Robinson said "indicates at first glance that there is no need to pursue the matter further."

Soapy Expected Back On Drive For Friday Meet

DETROIT (AP)— G. Mennen Williams, Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Jennings Memorial Hospital.

The 55-year-old former governor entered the hospital Monday and underwent diagnostic tests and treatment for a minor kidney infection.

Dr. Albert Steinbach, Williams' physician, said the illness was a fairly common one. He said Williams would be in the hospital "for a few days."

The former six-term governor is expected to be back on the campaign trail Friday when he is scheduled to attend the Democratic state convention in Grand Rapids.

Williams is running against Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., in the November election.

S. degree in Business Education and Social Studies in 1960 from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo; attended Lutheran Bible Institute in Minneapolis for one year; and has credits toward a Master's degree from Indiana University.

Lawn Should Be Started Here Before Sept. 1

By J. L. Heirman

If you are going to put in new lawn do it immediately. Do not plant after Sept. 1 and expect good results. If one cannot get the planting done in time it is better to wait until next spring.

There are two basic grasses. The bluegrasses are adapted to heavier soil and sunny conditions. The creeping red fescues are best adapted to lighter soil and shade. Both of these grasses will do well with average maintenance.

A mixture of Kentucky Bluegrass and red fescue is desirable. If seeded about 50-50 per cent. The bluegrass will predominate in sunny areas and the the red fescue will take over in shade. If it's a little sandy red fescue will take hold instead of bluegrass.

Kentucky Bluegrass has several varieties. Those adapted best to our area are common, Park, or Delta. With red fescues, Pennlawn is the preferred variety.

Merion Bluegrass requires more maintenance and general care to get good results.

If you want a nice lawn, stay away from coarse grasses like ryegrass, tall fescue, red top, or bent grass.

Picture Of Day Selections Made From Fair Art

Following a long standing custom in the Art Department at the Upper Peninsula State Fair, a number of pictures of interest will be given special display and designation as "Picture of the Day" it is announced by Mrs. Helen Costley, department superintendent.

"The Docks" a water color painting by Mrs. Jane Alborn of Munising was the "Picture of the Day" for Tuesday, opening day of the fair.

Today's special designation goes to another water color. It is titled "Flowers" and is the work of John Schwalbach of Escanaba.

For Thursday the "Picture of the Day" will be an oil painting by Ann Malone of Munising. Title of the painting is "5 Mile Point".

All three of the pictures singled out for special attention are from the senior division of this year's show.

Lindquist Heads Foreign Study

Jack Lindquist, son of Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, 1815 Lake Shore Drive, has been named international student advisor with the rank of associate dean for the University of California at Riverside. He assumed his position July 1.

Jack Lindquist

Riverside University has about 4,000 students, of whom 200 come from overseas. Lindquist has prepared a 10 year prospectus for the expansion and development of the international student program which will more than double the number enrolled in the next few years.

He will head the new International Center now being built, which will provide offices for counseling personnel and staff, meeting rooms, and extensive library facilities covering all phases of international education. He is currently in the Midwest to visit other universities and has just returned to Escanaba from Ann Arbor where he consulted with personnel at the International Student Center.

His duties at Riverside will include advising foreign students on visas, housing, financial aids and personal affairs . . . . along with providing liaison with state and federal immigration departments, foreign governments, and various agencies interested in international student affairs. American students wishing to study abroad will also come under his jurisdiction.

The University of California now has 10 overseas campuses and plans to expand to 20. Lindquist will gradually assume responsibility for the selection of students to attend these.

He is a 1959 graduate of the Escanaba High School and holds both B. A. and M. A. degrees in English from the University of Michigan, where he also served for four years on the staff of the dean of men. For the past two years he has been assistant dean of men at Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla.

He is returning to Riverside on Wednesday after a short visit with his parents, to begin developing community support for the international student program. In addition to this position at Riverside, Lindquist will enroll as a student at UCLA to begin work on his Ph. D., and will carry a full schedule there.

Gratitude Gets Doc In Dutch

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The sounds of the world barely existed for Harry Michels for the last 45 years. When an operation brought back his hearing he wanted the world to know.

He bought space on a billboard to thank his doctor in letters as big as his gratitude.

But a group of doctors found the sign "highly unethical," and threatened to bring Michels' doctor before a judicial committee of the county medical society if it did not come down.

Michels, who intended the sign partly as a surprise for his physician, Dr. Floyd M. Gusack of Plainfield, commented, "I never dreamed the doctor would get into trouble. But I think I got my point across anyway."

Aware that doctors are not ethically allowed to advertise, Michels said, "This is different, it's me advertising."

The sign comes down today, with its message: "Dr. Floyd Gusack. . . I will be forever grateful for your medical skills. . . Harry Michels."

Marinette May Get Motor Inn On Hotel Site

MARINETTE — Construction of a new motor motel on the site of Marinette's Downtowner Hotel, the former Marinette Hotel on Dunlap Square opposite the big Lauerman Brothers department store, is being proposed.

Robert G. Irwin, president of Redevelopment Services, Inc., of Milwaukee has described the site as "The most beautiful we've ever seen for construction of a high rise motor-inn facility." His firm has sent data on the site to prospective developers and is creating a master action plan for development of Marinette's downtown area.

He said 15 types of projects are being considered, ranging from the demolition of buildings and rebuilding of facilities to the painting and redesigning of store fronts. A market analysis to determine what Marinette can sell more of found that lodging facilities are among the city's needs.

William Hasenfus, president of Marinette Downtowner, Inc., said the hotel has been successful but that he wants to retire and is shifting the management of the Dome Supper Club here, which is owned by William Hasenfus and Sons, in order to advance his retirement plans.
